PERSONAL HEALTH INFORMATION PROTECTION ACT, 2004 Thames Emergency Medical Services – Elgin St. Thomas Division Information Practices

Protecting your Personal Health Information is important to Thames EMS

Thames EMS – Elgin County Division provides emergency pre-hospital medical services and transportation to the ill and injured in our community. In order to provide these services and ensure that you receive proper care, Thames EMS needs to ask you for certain personal health information.

As an individual who uses our services you have the right to know how we collect, use, maintain and disclose personal health information. You have a right to expect that, to the best of our ability, the personal health information held by us remains accurate, confidential and secure.

Privacy of your Personal Health Information

Thames Emergency Medical Services is committed to maintaining the confidentiality and security of personal health information and has a number of practices in place to protect the privacy of your personal health information. For example, your health information that is collected by our paramedics is maintained in a secured file in a location at our Headquarters that has restricted access. Only those who are directly involved in your and service or those who have a legal right to see your records are permitted access to your personal health information.

Previously, Thames EMS has always taken care to protect all of your personal information in accordance with the provisions of the Municipal Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy (MFIPPA) Act. The Government of Ontario has enacted new privacy legislation for all health care providers in the province that took effect November 1, 2004. This legislation, called the Personal Health Information Protection Act, 2004 (PHIPA), requires that strict rules be followed to protect the personal health information collected, used and/or disclosed by a “health information custodian”. Thames Emergency Medical Services is considered a “health information custodian” under this legislation. As such, we have taken additional steps to further protect your personal health information.

Collection and Use

Thames EMS collects, uses, discloses and maintains facts about you and your health. These facts are collected to help provide you with care and services by paramedics and the health care system or to process payments for health related services. They include:

- ✓ Your name, address and Ontario Health care number;

ELGIN ST. THOMAS EMS

Phone: (519) 637-3098

Fax: (519) 637-3484

E-mail: office@thamesems.com

- ✓ Facts about your health, health care history and the health care that you have been provided;

Non-identifying information related to your care and service is used for administration, management, strategic planning, decision-making, research, and quality of care reviews with staff and for regulatory compliance requirements.

Access and Disclosure

You have the right to request access to your personal health information and to receive a copy of your personal health care records subject to limited exceptions as set out in PHIPA. You also have the right to ask us to correct a record if it is inaccurate.

Your personal health information is private. Unless Thames EMS is required to disclose your personal health information for law enforcements purposes, or is specifically authorized to share your health information with others, we cannot and will not give out any of your personal health information without your consent. If you provide consent to let a family member or your legal representative see your personal health information, then the family member or legal representative may be allowed access to the part(s) of the personal health record that you have consented to let them see. You also have the right to withdraw or change the conditions of your consent subject to certain conditions as set out in PHIPA. If you have questions about access please ask the General Manager, Thames EMS.

Do you need additional information or do you have any questions?

If you would like to know more about how your personal health information is collected, used, maintained and disclosed, or if you have a concern or a complaint about access to your personal health information, please contact the General Manager, Thames EMS.

Thames EMS is committed to providing excellent pre-hospital medical care and transportation services to our community. Our commitment extends to protecting your rights and privacy, including the privacy of your personal health information.
